

KEY IDEAS

- 4 demonstrative pronouns.
- This, that, these and those.
- This and that are singular.
- These and those are plural.
- This and these are for near objects; That and those are for far objects.

CLASSNOTES

- This and that are exclusive to singular pronouns.
- “An” is used whenever a vowel follows.
- This and these can be identified using the statement.
Ej: This is an apple, these are apples.

ABSTRACT

The demonstrative pronouns are pronouns that point to specific things: this and that used for singular objects and these, those are used for plural. They can also be separated by near and far categories.

Near: This and these.

Far: That and those.